

Miss Me - But Let Me Go

(Edgar Albert Guest)

When I come to the end of the road
And the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free!

Miss me a little - but not for long
And not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me, but let me go.

For this journey that we all must take
And each must go alone;
It's all a part of the Master's plan
A step on the road to home.

When you are lonely and sick at heart
Go to the friends we know,
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.
Miss me, but let me go.

The Acknowledgment

We, the family of the late William B. Reliford, wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown during our time of bereavement.

May God who is able to keep us from falling during this time, and through all tribulations in our lives; bless and keep each of you.

The Obituary

William B. Reliford was born to the late William Leon Reliford and Mae Emma Reliford on July 8, 1967 in Cleveland, NC. William was also preceded in death by his sister, Helen Jordan and his grandson, Elijah King McKinney.

William received his education in the public schools of Salisbury, NC. He worked manufacturing jobs in Salisbury, NC and then decided to take a job in Raleigh, NC where he and his wife, Deborah A. Reliford decided to call home. His last place of employment was MATS Sensors in Cary, NC, where his position as a team leader ended after his illness.

William as called "Bro" by his family members but most of his friends called him "Will."

Bro's hobby was fishing but his passion was cooking and eating. He loved watching Chopped, Storage Wars, and any kind of survivor shows; oh how he loved the Dallas Cowboys.

Date night for Bro was to cook and eat a good meal and watching a good movie, sitting on the couch with his wife, Deborah.

William B. Reliford leaves to cherish his memories; his devoted wife, Deborah Reliford; daughter, Latasha Carr; stepchildren, Alisha, Frederick, Micheal, and Tyron; fifteen grandchildren; mother, Mae Emma Reliford; brother, Calvin Reliford; sister, Phyllis Pettiford; mother-in-law, Alice Hoyle; father-in-law, Joe Hoyle, Sr.; brothers-in-law, Kevin Pettiford and Joe Hoyle, Jr.; sister-in-law, Malinda Hoyle; nephews, nieces, and a host of other relatives and friends.

"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven: A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; . . ."

Ecclesiastes 3:1-2 (KJV)
